Venmar CES Launches New Public Website

Saskatoon, SK (August 27, 2012) – Venmar CES is pleased to announce that we have updated our public website (www.venmarces.com) with a new “look-and-feel” to help us better communicate our brand, our values and the innovative solutions that we can provide.

We have Quick Links for easy access to high traffic content and the latest products, updates and technologies are featured prominently on the home page. There are over 30 new and updated literature pieces (including Sales Brochures, Engineering Bulletins and Project Profiles). We also feature all new website content on our Products, Applications, Energy Recovery Technologies and High Performance Green Building solutions.

We hope you like the new look and we will update our content on a regular basis to help provide you with the tools and information you need on Venmar CES.
